Willow, The Wisp

by ARCHIE P. McKISHNIE

Printed by Special Arrangements with The Allen, Toronto, Ont.

"Well," he addressed her, "I seem as though I am to have trouble with all my children this evening. I'll be out of the house in a minute. First I find Lulu trying to murder a weasling mouse, and now I find you bent on disorganizing the whole duck colony—yes, a regular olive green, getting such an example to your puppies. I'm ashamed of you! Don't you get the very best of food, and an abundance of it! I've a good mind to take a stick to you, Mrs. Reynard, and if I find you worrying the ducks I'll certainly do it. Now, you be good or I'll send you away to the man who offered me five thousand dollars for you. Being of royal birth I can't chain you up as I could a common red fox, so I'll take other measures with you if you try to destroy the dignity of 'Miss Grubbs'." Reynard now drew along the edge of the enclosure, and you'll be lucky if you'll breathe and water for you two days."

The young foxes were rolling over each other in play, growling and scratching as they rolled, all except the small reddish-grey of the family who sat on his haunches, a little apart from the others, his sharp ears prick forward, his mouth half open in a grin of pleasure.

The woodman stopped down and picked up the largest of the puppies, a pure silver-grey, who was at an instant worth hundreds of dollars—and turned away up the path. But the mother, her eyes still on the feeding ducks, paid no heed to him, and made no move to follow him.

"Ho, ho," laughed the man. "So this fellow is not the favorite, eh? Well, we'll see if he's not of mother love doesn't hold good. I guess we know where most of your affection has centered. Reynard, don't we, little chap?"

He made a grab for the runt of the litter, but foxes evaded his clutch and ran whinpering to his mother. She reared down and licked his wispy tail and back her upper lip in a little snarl when the man reached under her long hair and pulled the whimpering puppy forth.

"I guess you'll come now," he observed as he tickled the baby fox beneath his arm.

With a little whine of disappointment the mother fox followed him, in her wake the four other puppies gambolling and sprawling.

Not until he was some distance into the woods did the man place the baby fox beside his mother. He waited until assured that the queasily spray-coat would seek her romping fold of the uplands, then he sought a path and followed it until a wide clearing grew up on the greening face of the forest. In a grove of butter-trees stood a nest, a nest of the long-limbed, straight, straight-grained and barked to take the shell-like stain of the elements, and mounted to fit snugly and snugly. The windows were covered with oiled burlap, scraped thin as parchment, to admit the light. The big doors were here cut from single blocks of white oak. A smaller cabin, built much alike, the same style, stood a little distance from it.

In front of the cabins sloped a wide lawn, surrounding which, and thick with it, a little forest, stood all manner of beautiful hardwood trees. The birch, with sweeping branches, sturdy, vivacious looking oak trees, tall, thin, looking like sentinels, stood solemnly upon their fellows, stately walnut and hickory trees, with here and there a gnarled, gnarled-looking scrub oak that seemed to rail at providence for not giving it the size and staidness of its neighbors.

This place was called Hardwood Retreat. The man had built the grand cabin with his own hands, largely by himself. He knew all the hardwoods, well, indeed, close and intimate as association with them for five years had caused him to look upon them as friends. Sometimes he laughed at himself for being so foolish as to believe that he understood their language. Take that tall hickory standing apart from its fellows, now. Whenever a storm was brewing, that old tree always shook its branches and sent him word. "Seeseh-seeh-seeh-seeh," was the word, and when he passed beneath it, even when the sky above was like a sea of roiling, roiling blue, and the palms streaked the canopy like the spokes of a giant wheel, and not a cloud was anywhere visible in the heavens, old hickory would utter its agitated message down to him; and he would slap its rough bark with his fist, "All right, old friend, I'll go gather up my family."

And the gathering up of this family was by no means easy. The foxes little liked being taken from their cozy beds among the hazel copses, the racoons did not like to be hided from him, the fawn looked their protest at his hand with eyes, and the deer, the fox, usually still and growled and often protested at taking her five kittens from the warm sunlight into the dark house.

But the man's law was one that must be observed. Once animals and birds were snugly housed, let the storm come. He was sure of it. The old hickory never lied. Mid-afternoon would mark a flaring of the sky, and a freshening breeze from off the lake. By and by the sunlight would fade to orange spray and deepens to a faint purple, and above the forest would come the soft, soft glow of a cloud that would spread and lower, pausing for one day, breathless instant as though to command its followers to be ready.

Wild storms they usually were, with crashing thunder and hurrying deluge as the barbed clouds sweeping down from the west. The man was there, above Tabanabos as one opposing army meets another. Well had the man learned that it was wise to have all the birds and animals snugly housed before the storm broke.

This morning as he passed up the path to the cabin, there was no sign of storm in the air. It was clear and sweet with the near of spring. The skies swam with the floral-lined clouds, and the sun was far, far down through the fir-wood thickets, spreading for miles upon miles across the upland, sending the voices of happy, happy birds.

But as he passed beneath the old hickory he paused suddenly and lifted his head high, high above him he heard a steady whistling—"Seeseh-seeh-seeh-seeh"—and he saw a little tremor run through those long reaching arms spread outward, and upward through the deep purple.

A peaceful, long-haired Irish setter came bounding down the path to meet him, to stand motionless with nerves quivering as he noted the look of intensity on his master's face.

The man smiled down at the dog. "The old tree says storm, Larry," he said. "Better be off and flush up your chickens."

With a whistle the dog turned and bounded away. His particular work was to look after the grouse-broods, to which end the man had trained him patiently and well, for assuredly the setter was an adept in gathering the birds.

As the man turned to resume his walk something stirred on a log a little to the left of him, and there stepped from the shadows into the sunlight a small, grey, sleek, sleek creature, consisting of white downy jacket, beaded and fringed, and grey downy skin reaching almost to her chin. Her hair was dark brown and fell across her wide forehead in fluffy waves. Her eyes were large and as grey as glass, gleaming from the bottom of a moss-lined hole. There was that about her face, which made one think of a silent, stealthy thing in the forest, an expression of placid satisfaction that was belied by the slight wistfulness of her mouth. Her skin was hard and cold, with the warmth of a hot blood behind it, and she may have been seventeen years of age, or she might have been a hundred years of age, or she might have been a thousand years of age.

"Well, Wisp, the Wisp," laughed the man, drawing her towards him. "How comes it that you are abroad so early? I have been wondering why you have been staying away from the retreat so long. Do you know that you have not been here for nearly a year."

She Says She Can Now Do Her Work

MRS. M. MAGNANT GIVES THE CREDIT TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Her Back Ached and She Was Always Tired, But She States She Found The Relief She Longed For in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

St. Louis, Mo., June 7 (Special).—"Thanks to Dodd's Kidney Pills I can now do my work," so says Mrs. M. Magrant, a well-known and highly respected resident of this place. Mrs. Magrant was a sufferer from that terrible weakness so many women have.

"My back ached," she says, "and I felt so tired all the time." But she turned over and turned, taking sixteen pills in all, with the result that the glad words of the opening paragraph were true.

Other women in all parts of Canada make the same statement. They state that old hickory would utter its agitated message down to him; and he would slap its rough bark with his fist, "All right, old friend, I'll go gather up my family."

Not for Disarmament

The Simple Way of Guaranteeing Peace of the World

At the camp yard, Philadelphia, says Chas. M. Schwab, the United States is building the biggest warship on record—a monster battle cruiser, 1,000 feet long, 104 feet beam, and of 16,000 tons displacement. Twelve 16-inch guns will constitute its main batteries, and its speed will be greater by ten miles an hour than that of the Lusitania. The construction will cost $50,000,000.

Mr. Schwab looks forward to the building of a fleet of such vessels.

Free Speech In America and Russia

What Is Right in Russia Seems to Be Wrong in United States

"What's the right of me is wrong for you," argues the child. Primitive man argued that way, and to the limit of his ability enforced his argument with a club. Panics of all stripes still continue the argument, and they continue it, if they gain power, into law. The absolute suppression of free speech, free press, and free assembly in Russia is revolutionary virtue; the punishment of outright enemies in America is vicious reactionism.

All the pro-Bolshevik writers and speakers are agreed; and though the more pretentiously virtuous exponents of uplift by usurpation cloak their meaning with euphemisms, the more straightforward advocates disavow the use of words of violence. On the front page of the Appeal to Reason for April 17 is an interview with Eugene V. Debs in which the argument is stated in plain terms. "If it was right," Debs was asked, "for Russia to suppress free speech and free press, you would not be right for the United States to suppress free speech in your law?" "No," replied Debs. "The Russian revolution was a forward step. American participation in the war was a reactionary step. In suppressing me, because I was a revolutionist, a backward step was taken." Naive, infantile, amusing—what you will; but how honorably this speech contrasts with the intellectual and moral abasement of the pretentiously pious journals of uplift—New York Review.

Advice to the Farmer

Gems of Advice To Farmers From The East

A prominent "farm" publication arriving from the east has these gems of advice to farmers.

"Be healthy one should spend considerable time in the open air every day without fail."

"Exercise enough to keep the muscles from getting soft and fatty."

"A heavy dinner in the middle of the day is inadvisable, as one may become sluggish later and be unable to concentrate on details requiring close attention."

"Live near to nature; take an interest in things out-of-doors; it provides a splendid tonic for the nerves."

The Newspaper

Daily the newspaper lays before its readers something about most of the events of its time.

At twenty thousand words an issue has to be composed in order that the product of a new assembling organization may reach the homes of a city and its district. The costs have become tremendous, yet the service is about the cheapest thing of value that the public can buy today.

Farmer and Advertising

Farmers are learning the value of advertising and are large users of space in the advertising columns of local newspapers throughout the country. Auction sale lists are now found first in the papers and though bills are usually printed too, the ad in the local papers is found to be much more effective than the time-honored bill—Wallerstein Telescope.

Canada's Import Trade

Doing Large Business With Germany And Austria

Information was recently given by the Canadian government in connection with her late enemies. It was stated that the total amount of imports from Germany and Austria during 1919 was less than one quarter of the total amount of these imports during the first three months of 1920. During the year 1919, goods to the value of $14,041 were imported from Germany and to the value of $779 from Austria. During the first three months of 1920 Canada imported goods to the value of $40,233 from Germany, and to the value of $48,944 from Austria.

Monster Celebration July 19th.

A meeting of the Village Council was held in Burdett Town Hall on Monday evening last, and the Councillors with the hearty approval of the business men of the town decided to declare July 19th, a civic holiday and to celebrate the annual sports on that date under the auspices of the Old Settlers and International Peace day Proclamation. A strong Committee comprising The Reeve Mr. A. Hamilton, Councillors Lomas, Ostrum and Messrs A. Kerkham, Customs Officer and A. Waddell were appointed to make the arrangements for the celebration. It is the intention of the Committee backed by the townspeople and the farmers to make this the greatest celebration ever held in this district. The members of the local G.W.V.A. are co-operating with the above Committee with this end in view. A meeting of all interested will be held on Monday evening next when the necessary Sub-Committees will be appointed and a report made as to progress. The Committee expect the patronage and support of the people of the neighbouring towns in making this celebration a great success.

Mr. A. Hamilton and the sports secretary Mr. A. Waddell are arranging to have a first class programme of events some of them of an original nature never seen here before on the Programme and of course there will be Baseball and other amusements for everybody. It is the intention to have an Exhibition of Aeroplanes Flying accompanied with thrilling aerial stunts put on during the afternoon and evening. Look out for full particulars in the large posters that will be posted next week throughout the District. We aim to have the crowd coming from as far west as Medicine Hat and as far east as Taber to Our Monster Celebration.

Masons Go To Banff for Grand Lodge Sessions

Prominent Masons from all over Alberta left last Monday to attend the Annual Sessions of the Grand Lodge of Alberta, A.F. and A.M., which is being held at Banff this week in Brewster's Hall, presided over by the Provincial Grand Master, J.W. Botterill of Red Deer. Tuesday will be taken up entirely with Committee work and the Grand Lodge will convene on Wednesday. Mr. George Lomas accompanied by his wife and Mr. A. Morrison left last Tuesday to attend this Grand Lodge Session.

Maleb News

From our own Correspondent

Mr. Riley and son are both in Medicine Hat Hospital being treated for rheumatism.

It is reported that this district was visited with some very nice showers last week.

Quite a number of farmers are sowing their fields over again that have been blown out with the recent wind storms.

Fertile Plains U. F. A.

Rev. C. Jacobson of Burdett addressed a small but attentive meeting of Fertile Plains U.F.A. on Sunday last. Mr. Jacobson spoke of the service that U.F.A. members should give to the community and the improvement in the social life which can be brought about by meeting one another at U.F.A. Concerts, Debates etc. We hope to hear Mr. Jacobson at a later date when a larger number will turn out. The Fertile Plains U.F.A. will hold a basket picnic on July 12th. It is expected that Mr. Morrow of Medicine Hat will deliver an address.

THE BOW ISLAND REVIEW

FOSTER'S WEATHER FORECAST

Warm waves will reach Vancouver, B.C. about June 10, 16, 21, 26, and temperatures will rise on all the Pacific slope. They will cross crest of Rockies by close of June 11, 17, 22, 27, plains sections 12, 18, 23, 28; meridian 30, upper great lakes, Ohio-Tennessee and lower Mississippi valleys 18, 23, 28, great lower lake and eastern sections 14, 20, 25, 30, reaching vicinity of Newfoundland about June 15, 21, 26, July 1. Storm waves will follow about one day behind warm waves, cool waves about one day behind storm waves.

These disturbances will control cropweather of the continent from June 10 to near July 1 and the new cropweather conditions that will occur and determine cropweather and crops of 1920 will be fully inaugurated. It is expected to make only gradual changes. One feature is almost sure to be manifested during the first of June (10 to July 1): a decided change to higher temperatures, and before we get through the summer we will be longing for cool weather. This will be general east of Rockies crest, but it is almost universally true that long periods of high temperature east of Rockies being corresponding low temperatures west of the great ridge.

Storm forces are expected to be weaker during balance of June than they were for the three weeks previous to June 10, and temperatures are expected to rise from June 10 to July 1 more than the season suggests. Moisture for balance of this season will largely come from the northern part of the Atlantic and feed into the lows as they come from the northwest. In turn this condition will call for much more rain from Gulf of Mexico and Caribbean Sea to move northward east of Rockies, and colder air to move southward west of Rockies. Readers are expected to remember these statements in order that they may better understand future forecasts.

Most severe storms of the next six months will be during the weeks centering on July 16; August 11 and 23, October 8 and 22; November 8, December 13. Such storms have much to do with cropweather, and if you are interested in weather events you should watch these bulletins for further information on these storms. The storms predicted for week centering on June 5 will be due when this bulletin is published and particularly intense is centered on the predicted northern front of that week.

Early in the season I stated that moisture would be short on northern Pacific Slope, in southwest part of great central valleys and part of Canada; that one-third of the principal farming sections would be too wet, one-third normal, and one-third too dry. Weather events have proved the correctness of the forecasts. Now I say that of the farm sections for the balance of the season one-third will have cropweather below the year's average and two-thirds from fair to good cropweather.

Grain and Cotton Conditions

Everything seems to point to lower markets. Cropweather promises a general improvement during June for at least two-thirds of the farming sections of North America. Farmers and local dealers have borrowed large sums of money on grain and cotton. They can not hold their products much longer; the market values are ample, and it is of opinion that they must sell. The League of Nations is to be a leading issue in America; politics America has virtually withdrawn from the European alliance. Poland and Hungary are at war and with America out of the fight European finances are shaky and doubtful; we have an ugly home contrast about turning our great transportation shipping fleet over to Europe; our political situation seems unsettled, dark, murky, and altogether I am led to believe we must go through a financial depression. Therefore, I advise—Get rid of your cash, grain and cotton, have nothing to do with wheat future deliveries, sell short on the far-away deliveries of oats and cotton. Let corn futures alone for the present, but study its situation and probabilities. Of course the millers, who have grain on hand for manufacture should hedge by selling futures.

Winnifred Whisperings

From our own Correspondent

Mr. Pat O'Neill of Winnifred reports in addition to his flowing well he is connecting the gas into his house for all purposes.

Mr. W. Currie of Good Cheer Dairy was a visitor to town last Friday.

Mr. Levine, miner, had the good fortune when angling to catch quite a good supply of God Eye Fish last week, and was able to dispose of a half at Winnifred last week, so angling must be good these days.

The Rebecca Lodge of Winnifred visited the Bow Island Rebecca Lodge and put on installation work, everybody reported a good time.

P.C. Buchner the surprising overland agent said's new car to Dan Pederson of Pleasant View.

John Myers, pioneer stockman of Seven Persons transacted business in Winnifred, Friday.

Muggle the young son of A.F. Doherty came home after a splendid visit with his uncle and Auntie Mr. and Mrs. J. Doherty of Milk River.

The Winnifred Baseball season opened on the King's Birthday with a game between Winnifred Junior and White Junior teams; sorry to say that White won. Try again boys you may do better next time!

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Pederson of Pleasant View leave Monday for a six weeks trip to North Dakota and Glacier Park.

Winnifred has been designated as a point for holding the Provincial Grade school examinations.

Miss Allison of Fairlight is spending the week end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gosselin.

The stock left the fourth girl at the home of A.E. Kendall late Thursday evening, mother and child are doing well.

Mr. G.C. Cudding formerly of Winnifred, but now of Portland, Oregon, is in town looking after his farm interest, it seems good to see the familiar faces of Pioneers back again.

Mr. A.W. Fuller was in Winnifred transacting business Monday.

Mr. O.T. Dean and children of Calgary who have been visiting her father and mother Mr. and Mrs. Pat O'Neill south of town, left for their home last Monday evening.

The Winnifred Agricultural Society are holding their Annual Picnic June 25th at the Fair Grounds. A program of good clean sports, an enjoyable afternoon and evening is guaranteed to all, so come one, come all.

Principal Boswell is fitting a number of Winnifred pupils and graders for the Provincial Examinations.

Calgary's Exhibition

The prize list for the Calgary Exhibition may be obtained by writing to E.L. Richardson, Manager, Calgary. The Exhibition is to be held this year from June 20th. to July 3rd, and entries close on June 14th. Over $7,000 has been added to the Prizes for the Live Stock Department this year, making the total amount offered in all departments now $34,000.

The new hundred thousand dollar cattle stable and judging pavilion will be used for the first time this year and will add greatly to the comfort and convenience of the exhibitors. Calgary is fortunate this year in being able to secure Locklear, possibly the most daring acrobatic performer in the world. He does acrobatic stunts all over an aeroplane and finishes his act by changing from one machine to another in full flight in mid-air. This is possibly the greatest attraction that can be obtained for any exhibition.

Auto Polo will also provide many thrills for Fair visitors, while the musical programme will be provided by Canada's crack military band, the 48th. Highlanders, of Toronto.

Special passenger rates will be in force for the Calgary Exhibition from all points in Alberta, Saskatchewan and British Columbia east of Golden on the Main Line and Nelson on the Crow's Nest.

Bow Island North

From our own Correspondent

June has come in with quiet days and occasional refreshing showers, being more preferable to the late month's blistering weather.

The latest adversity we farmers have to contend with is a bug, known as the wire worm, goodness alive, a farmer's life is not of rose. For between the ravages of army worms, cut worms, wire worms and rust, to say nothing of early frosts, hail, grasshoppers, hurricanes, and drought, we say, who wouldn't be a farmer, and wonder what is coming next?

Monday last the river people were deluged for an hour first with hail, followed by a steady rain which was more welcome, after the winds of the previous week.

The river is clearing after the spring floods, and we are glad to announce the Goldbees are biting ravenously.

We are glad to report that the local pastures are coming ahead in big strides, and the impoverished and hungry looking cattle of a month ago, are today shedding their winter coats, and fattening up in great style, we hope the flies will keep off until the critters get into better shape to withstand their ravages.

We experienced several severe frosts last week, although hardly sufficient to hurt the newly sprouted grain.

The Antelope are increasing surprisingly under the restrictions being enforced against their slaughter ample proof of this can be seen by counting the number of little bunches ranging on the opposite shores between the Walworth and Marston ranches.

Mr. A.A. Lindquist has finished his spring work on the land, he has put in a plot of field corn as an experiment, which if should come to maturity will in future years, guarantee a feed crop in this district. We watch Mr. Lindquist's endeavors in corn culture with interest.

Mr. Chas. Thompson, brother to George who purchased the Hilan quarter, has accepted a position on the Walworth ranch.

Problems of West Discussed at Big Industrial Congress

Calgary.—The second annual industrial congress opening at Calgary attracted several hundred business men and farmers from all parts of the country. A feature was the appearance of 200 members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the weather man was on his good behavior. President M. A. Brown opened the congress and premier Stewart welcomed the delegates and visitors. In his address he emphasized the value to the country of the industrial effort that had made the meeting an annual affair. As president Howard of the manufacturers' association said the work of the congress is not a big scale, managed by men of vision who are helping put the west on a map and develop a spirit of co-operation throughout the Dominion. Col. Dennis discussed irrigation, one of the important problems of the west, and F. H. Peters, commissioner of irrigation, talked along the same line. T. A. Hornibrook, president of the board of trade, and mayor P. C. Marshall, of Calgary, added their voices to the general note of welcome. The speeches were concluded by R. B. Bennett.

Hon. Geo. P. Smith, speaking as the representative of the province, said that the province was anxious to encourage a well rounded business community. He knew there was some uncertainty in general conditions, but he believed the city just as necessary as the rural districts. All classes are necessary in this day of general social conditions. The province is anxious to encourage manufacturing industry, but only those which find conditions here reasonable for industrial. Speaking of the conflict between consumer and producer, the speaker said he thought profiteering had been done by capital. If manufacturers could convince the country that they were doing all they could to bring prices back to normal, it would be less difficult to induce labor to accept more moderate wages, but he desired to emphasize that he did not believe profiteering was confined to any particular class. It was general.

T. A. Hornibrook, president of the board of trade, called attention to the fact that Calgary is the centre of the second largest irrigation system in the world. Brig-Gen. MacDonald, general manager of the Industrial Development Association, received great ovation when he replied to the address of welcome. He was sure the work of the organization was sound, and was appreciated by the country generally. He thanked the visitors for their contributions and activities in behalf of the association.

Col. J. S. Dennis made a speech, philosophically when he was introduced as the greatest authority on irrigation on the continent. Col. Dennis spoke with the authority of 48 years of work in Canada in the services of the Dominion government, Hudson's Bay Company and the Canadian Pacific Railway. Capital and labor are conceived to be a part of the success of colonization and development. The payment of the national debt cannot be settled except by colonization and industrial development. Thirty million acres of selected good agricultural land is today lying idle within fifteen miles of the established railway lines of the four western provinces.

Discuss Value of Good Roads as Aid to Agriculture

Winipeg.—The value of good roads as an aid to agriculture, as a factor in the development of the country and as an inducement to tourist traffic, were some of the topics, apart from the professional and technical ones that were discussed at the two sessions of the Canadian good roads convention here.

Hon. F. C. Biggs, minister of public works, Ontario, declared that the first step was to increase production was to keep the boys on the farms, said that they had come to realize in eastern provinces that they must have improved roads for bringing the boys to the consolidated schools and continuation schools, they were proposing so that the children on the farms would not have to travel to the towns.

For Relief Work in Europe

Several Governments Have Arranged To Help in Rebuilding the Central Countries

Paris.—New and substantial credits for the relief and reconstruction of Central European countries, including Austria and Hungary, have been arranged by the governments of Great Britain, Sweden, Holland, Norway, Sweden and Switzerland. The credits are mainly in the form of raw materials and food, and although the United States is not officially represented on the committee, it is co-operating in a large way, it is stated, by providing commodity credits for Central Europe.

Britain Builds Huge Airship

R-80 Will Be Equipped With All The Latest Improvements

Barrow, England.—An Airship R-80 built for the admiralty, will be launched in two or three weeks. She embodies the latest improvements in aircraft design and it is stated that she will be able to make a round trip to Atlantic with ease. The vessel is 535 feet in length and 70 feet wide. Her lifting power is 38 tons. Four engines, each of 240 horsepower, will give her a maximum speed of 65 miles per hour. She will carry a crew of 15.

No Military Compulsion

Signing of Peace Treaty Has Rescinded Description in Germany

Berlin.—It is now officially announced that no law will be enacted abolishing compulsory military service which is demanded by the peace treaty. Because the treaty assembly's acceptance of the treaty automatically rescinds the former compulsory resolutions. This objection has been raised in view of the allegation that Germany is not carrying out the provisions of the treaty.

The order also announced that the minister of defence will issue a decree forbidding discharged soldiers to carry service rifles and hand grenades. This order is somewhat a making, according to reports, thousands of discharged men all over the country are in possession of their full army outfits. A few days ago the police seized, near Hanover, 194 hidden rifles and 190 swords and 10,000 cartridges.

Value of Good Railways

Hon. S. J. Latta Speaks of the Importance of Good Roads in Winnipeg.—The keynote of all good work in western Canada, and for that matter throughout the whole Dominion, was stressed by Hon. S. J. Latta, minister of highways for Saskatchewan, at the conclusion of the Canadian Good Roads convention.

He affirmed that the essence of patriotism was the home, and that the things that touched the home the nearest transportation facilities. The minister had been describing the new Canadian problem of the west, and the making of the immigrant of European nationality a British citizen and he impressed his hearers that they had not only to get these people to understand the institutions of Canada, but they had to get them into a receptive frame of mind, and nothing would do more to produce this, he said, than getting them to love the country, because of what the country was doing for them.

Japan Suspects Plot

Negotiations for Buffer Siberian State Are All Off

Honolulu.—Japan has broken off negotiations with the Russian Bolsheviks for the formation of a buffer state in Siberia, according to a Tokyo cable to the Nippon Jiji, a Japanese newspaper here.

The breach in negotiations came about as a result of Japan's discovery of a plot to undermine General S. Hirohito, commander of the all-Russian forces in Siberia and bring the Russian forces under the Bolsheviks, the cable states.

Weather Aids Wheat Crop

Brandon.—The rains and cold weather of the last few days have been of immense benefit to the crop in the Brandon district. One week ago, due to the dust storm, many fields had been brown and bare. Today everything is green and the roots of the wheat are driving deep down in the earth, making for a vigorous and sturdy growth and a promise of ability to withstand drought, should there be one at a later date.

Cowardly Attacks in Ireland

Five Members of Irish Constabulary Beat Back Five Hundred Rebels

Toronto.—The Toronto Evening Telegram published the following Belfast, Ireland: "Boys don't mind me. Stick to your posts," shouted Sergeant Fitzpatrick, of the Royal Irish Constabulary, at Crossmag, 20 miles from Belfast, when he was wounded with a bullet through his lung while defending the barracks with five men, against an attack of five hundred rebels.

The attacks lasted two hours, during which the barracks were sprayed with petrol. The police fought stoutly, and wounding several raiders, succeeding in beating them off. The rebels took to Irish when they were fired at.

Fitzpatrick, a native of Fermanagh, and Constable Ramsay, conducted the attack. Fitzpatrick was badly wounded, though he was so badly hurt he had to lie bleeding on the floor, he still managed to counsel what to do to the remnants of the Constable. Carry was wounded in the knee.

The attack on Clare barracks, Kings County, cost the rebels three killed and several wounded. Hand grenades knocked over several raiders. A man's jaw and a finger and a cap with a bullet hole through it were found on the scene by the military who came to the rescue.

Continue Wheat Standards in U.S.

Reduction Urged Would Decrease Return to Farmers

Washington.—Continuation of the present federal wheat standards was decided upon by Secretary Meredith in an opinion covering hearings held to inquire into dissatisfaction in the central northwest with the present standards for hard red spring and Durum wheat. Request for lowering the present standards, the secretary announced would tend to decrease the return to farmers while advocates of the change argued that the producer would receive more money for his wheat.

The federal standards established in 1917 and revised in 1918 have been operative only under fixed price and, with conditions, the secretary stated, adding that opportunity for fair tests of their merits or defects have now been afforded under normal marketing conditions.

Did Sir Thos. Lipton Good Luck

Starts For America in Quest of the Cup With His Boat Shamrock IV

London.—Crowds of people were seen to flock to wish Sir Thomas Lipton good luck in his quest for the America cup, with his boat Shamrock IV, against other boats in the world. Dowry Queen Alexandra, in expressing her hopes that Sir Thomas would win with the Shamrock IV, said: "Certainly I am confident, but I am not too sure, for then there would be no sport for anyone."

Shortage of Laborers in West

Calgary, Alta.—That the west could absorb at least 20,000 men for railway construction, farm work and mining, was the statement made by Grant Hall, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, in the course of an interview here.

D. C. Coleman, vice-president of western lines, who was also present, confirmed this great shortage. He stated that there was a scarcity of unskilled labor in the east today, also, but not to the same extent as in western Canada.

Yukon Free of Ice

Dawson, Y. T.—The Yukon River is now entirely free from ice from Lake Labarge northward. Advice from interior Alaska says all restrictions there against travel because of influenza are being lifted as the weather makes for a vigorous and sturdy growth and a promise of ability to withstand drought, should there be one at a later date.

Safeguard Interests in Persia

London.—In reply to a question in the house of commons regarding the Bolshevik activity in Persia, Cecil B. Harcourt, under-secretary for foreign affairs, said the Persian minister of commerce had been in contact with the British foreign office, and a complete understanding had been reached that both Persian and British interests would be safeguarded.

Britain is Not Yet Prepared to Trade with Russia

The Newspaper Situation

Sir Henry Drayton Tells Manufacturers Government Will Insist On Domestic Supply

Ottawa.—The conference with the newspaper manufacturers announced in the house took place in the finance minister's office. Sir Henry Drayton told the manufacturers that the government was much disturbed to find that, knowing the agreements made last fall, twenty-five percent of the daily newspapers in Canada were facing the period of suspension owing to inability to get newspaper paper. Although willing to pay current prices for export to foreign countries, he said the government would insist upon the domestic requirements being supplied as they represent only 15 percent of the total production.

The situation still regarded as very serious. The publishers are emphasizing the point that the total amount of newspaper necessary to the continued existence of the 26 daily newspapers affected represents less than two percent of the exports of newspapers and that they ask for no favors regarding price.

The publishers state that the great majority of the mills are keeping up their production of newsprint, and that the present crisis has been caused by the attitude of a very small minority.

The Hearst newspapers also had a representative in Ottawa interviewing the government regarding newspaper supplies. He said that the company of newspapers of the Hearst papers is 200,000 tons, a substantial portion of which is made in Canada.

Will Open Office in London

Cabinet Grants Permission to Soviet Government

London.—As the first result of the meeting of Gregory Krasin, Russian Bolshevik minister of trade and commerce, with Premier Lloyd George and members of the British cabinet, the soviet government, according to the Evening Standard, has been granted permission to open immediately a central trading office in London. At this office, the newspaper says, an endeavor will be made to organize an exchange of goods with British traders.

Rain Delays Forest Fires

St. John, N. B.—Heavy rain in Northern New Brunswick and other districts put an end to the menace of many fires. Two new fires were reported near Newcastle, and another on the southwest Miramichi, but they are under control. Situation in Victoria and the Maritimes continues quiet. The fire at Glenora on the Fredericton and Grand Trunk railway in Sunbury county, has burned about 1,200 acres.

Burned British Flag

Washington.—The United States Department has asked the District of Columbia commissioners for a statement of fact as to the burning of a British flag in front of the treasury by women sympathizers with Irish freedom.

Want Government To Control Wheat For Another Year

Winipeg.—Asserting that the Canadian Wheat Board cannot exercise control over the 1920 crop unless its authority is renewed at the present session of parliament, the executive committee of the Canadian Council of Agriculture telegraphed the Dominion government, urging that steps be taken to have government control of wheat crop for at least another year.

The resolution as forwarded to Ottawa, recalls a resolution of the council of agriculture adopted last January, favoring government control of the wheat crop of 1920-21, provided that "controlled buying should be discontinued on the part of overseas importers of Canadian wheat," points out that the conventions of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba have planned for at least another year.

London.—Trade negotiations between the allies and Gregory Krasin, Russian soviet minister of trade and commerce, have not yet begun, according to Premier Lloyd George in the house of commons.

Replying to a flood of insistent inquiries, the premier said there were certain questions Great Britain wanted cleared up before it would undertake negotiations at all. It must guarantee that there will be no attacks on British interests in the east or at home while negotiations are proceeding. Mr. Lloyd George declared, and must guarantee to release all British prisoners. Great Britain must clear these questions out of the way herself, the premier added, after which all negotiations could proceed.

Representatives of the French and Italian governments are in London. It was further decided, said the premier, that the allied delegates were prepared to deal with the Russian delegates as to the best methods of removing the obstacles and difficulties in the way of resuming peaceable relations in the general interest of Europe.

The premier said that M. Krasin was the head of the delegation representing the Russian soviet government, but he was also minister of the soviet government and, as such, no doubt was acting in the name and under the authority of the Soviet government.

One of the members asked whether Krasin was not originally a German agent. The premier said he did not think he was, but that he was associated with a German firm of electricians. He was a Russian by birth.

The members enquired whether it could be taken that the perturbation of the French public was without any basis, and that the negotiations were being acted upon. The premier replied: "I am not aware that there is great perturbation in France. The fact is that the French newspapers are trying to foment trouble between two friendly and allied countries, who both subscribe to the same principles in the interests of the world, is no proof of French perturbation."

Troops Are Gathering

Sensational Reports of Concentration Of Bavarian Forces Comes From Berlin

Berlin.—The Tagblatt publishes under sensational reports of the concentration of Bavarian troops in the vicinity of Potsdam, and that Prince August Wilhelm, of Prussia, son of the former emperor, is playing a prominent part in the movement. The Tagblatt also publishes the authorities intend to future to arrest all pacifists and a number of prominent Leftists.

CHEER UP, DON'T FEEL SAD.

You may harp of Old-Time Prices,
And dream of times gone by;
But wheat brought sixty cents a bushel then,
And produce was not so high.

True, the things you buy are dear,
And a few prices are going up;
But this fall you may have more money than Since William was a pup.

Forget the sand storms and cut worms,
And dream of the times to come
When money will flow like water,
And no man will be on the bum.

Forget the past two failures,
And think of the golden glean
That burst the farmer's granaries
In Nineteen hundred and sixteen.

The Crops cannot fail forever;
A change is surely due,
For this country always comes back
When everything looks most blue.

Forget your troubles and sorrows!
Awaken the hope within your breast;
For those who are hopeful and cheerful
Are the ones that are always blest.

we wish him good luck.

The Burdett branch of the G.W.V.A. held their monthly meeting last Sunday, a good attendance was the result many matters of interest were dealt with, among others it was decided to support the demand of the Dominion
Command for an early general election on the ground that the Union Government has lost confidence of the people.
The resignation of A. Kerham as Secretary, on the ground of too much work was accepted and D. Colman was elected to fill the vacancy.
